Harry Greenleaf, while tearing away flooring and timbers at the Dennison-Greenlaw Co. building, found a rare book. Imprinted on the back is its title, "Tale of the Thorndike" but the contents is not readable. Concealed between the covers is a neat flask which bobs up into a convenient position when the right spring is touched. This innocent example of the book binder's skill probably did good service way back in town agency days when camouflage was popular as now.

The Mad Honeymoon

A Regular Show Put On at the Opera House, Wednesday Evening—
—Record House

A return to the days of melodrama with the greatly harassed hero and heroine the plotting villains exciting gun play and just retribution was the frame work of "The Mad Honeymoon" presented in Norway Opera House, February 6, and repeated at Association Hall, February 7th.

The Opera House was packed to the doors Wednesday evening when some of the best local talent presented this comedy under arrangements with Samuel French of New York. The show was sponsored by the Norway and Paris Kiwanis Club for the definite purpose of raising a fund for under privileged children in both communities.

Some exciting story is The Mad Honeymoon, featuring not only the conspiring "heavies" but a line of comedy produced by the nervous bridegroom-to-be, the irate father-in-law, and the country constable with his rather slack wife. Even the bride-elect though surrounded by tragic circumstances, unconsciously plays into a humorous scene by eloping in a trousseau of pajamas and a fur coat.

The play was given in three acts and two separate interior sets. The Colgate parlor was the background for opening the plot in the first act and administering justice in the third scene. A country hotel was shown for the development of the plot during the second act.

Stuart Goodwin was Rufus Colgate, father of Peggy, eccentric with a sense of humor and altogether forgiving.

Eva Evirs portrayed the dashing Peggy Colgate, a young Miss with a past that provided the underpinning for the plotters in their blackmail scheme for ready cash. Deeply in love with Wally, the elopement with him crashed on the rocks, but of course everything was untangled for a satisfying close-up at the final curtain.

Donald B. Partridge played a bit of light comedy as Wally Spencer, the Romeo. His character was a happy blending of extreme modesty, ardent love making and surprising alacrity in moments when righteous indignation was a virtue. The victim of a mock marriage; his bride refusing to enter into any entangling alliance and the honeymoon wrecked on the rocks of fate, were additions for his sufferings until the mystery was cleared.

Harold A. Anderson appeared as Bill Cripps, alias Dr. Bailey, sharper, bond thief and arch conspirator. Passing himself as his dead brother whom Peggy secretly married years before the opening of the story, he all but shattered the lovers' romance. The hands of the law secured a firm hold when Kennedy, the detective, played by Norman U. Greenlaw, slapped down his best trump in the last act.

Glenn McIntire was Parson Crandall, posing as a pious individual while in league with Bill Cripps and a handy tool in big game of extracting money. He got his, too, but put one over the country constable during the round-up.

Annie Knight made an attractive Mrs. Shannon, housekeeper in the Colgate home. Her intentions were good in taking away an assortment of clothing so Peggy might not elope, but failed to judge correctly the temperament of Mr. Colgate in this emergency.

Rosie Merrill was Marie Wilson, a maid in the Colgate home, and wife of Duke Wilson. The faith in her husband was given a strong test when he fell a victim to a "plant" for his ruin.

Stephen Bradeen impersonated Duke Wilson, a chauffeur and ex-convict going straight. Through his efforts the evidence was secured that unraveled the plot and sent his enemies "up river" for a long term.

Clayton Murch played the role of a young lawyer, Jimmy Rawlinson. Although his advice was not heeded early in the story, there came good counsel before the end that had much bearing on the climax.

W. H. Edminster as Obediah Eads was the mail order constable, exceedingly brave and the kind who lays his man out first and identifies his victim later. Obediah had the instincts of a sleuth and all but beaned the right criminal. However, the slick parson got one across when he whisked the constable's wallet and slipped on the bracelets as a farewell shot.

Alice Skillings played the comedy role of Mrs. Eads and portrayed as slow in motion, a dumbell in intellect and not altogether lovely for her unkempt appearance. She and husband Obediah had their tilts with the Madam chief announcer and master of the house.

Not a dull moment was allowed between the acts. When the orchestra under the direction of Miss Helen Emeley, was not playing. Rev. Pliny A. Allen was leading the audience in a hearty sing, using the Kiwanian songs.

Mention should be made of the new scenery designed by N. U. Greenlaw, built by Jack Smith and decorated by the Mason Manufacturing Co. All electrical effects were furnished by the Central Maine Power Co., Atherton Furniture Co. provided the furniture and Fred S. Brown, the draperies. Harold A. Anderson coached the play, Donald Partridge acted as business manager and Ned Burnell applied the make-ups. Lawrence Denison handled the properties.

The show was satisfactory in every particular and reflected much credit to the performers, coach and manager.

Oxford Chapter Order Eastern Star held a very largely attended and interesting meeting for its February session last Tuesday evening. After this ceremony, the newly installed Worthy Matron presented the retiring Worthy Matron with her Past Matron's jewel, and also a gift for her work as installing officer. POVERTY PARTY

A Poverty Party was given Saturday night by Miss Tessa R. Thibodeau, at her home on Main Street. The guests were bidden to "come in poverty clothes" and a strange array of poverty stricken females arrived at the Thibodeau home just before 6:30 o'clock. It was like "keeping up with the Joneses," each one trying to outdo the other, but none knowing what the other would wear. It was not so much a rummage of attics for the antiquated things, but a hunt for the really un-usable, and it resulted in a display of cast-offs that did not find their way to the Trash and Treasure sale of last week.

After the first excitement was over and all had laughed themselves nearly sick, supper was announced. The hostess had carried everything out in strict poverty style, the menu and the table appointments corresponding; a ragged table cover on one table and newspapers on the other; paper plates, white mugs, and only a knife and a spoon for utensils. A bowl of paper narcissus that had refused to blossom, but had plenty of green leaves, was embellished with tissue paper flowers and served as the centerpiece. These flowers were very artistic, with a wooden dowel for the stem, and bright colored tissue paper blossoms tacked on. Tonic bottles served as bud vases and carried a bright blossom to brighten up the corners. The place cards were equally as unique.

It was Saturday night baked beans served from a large yellow mixing bowl, brown bread on a thick white plate; cabbage salad and pickles, etc. But extra paper plates were provided for the apple pie and cheese.

Before they could settle down for cards, there was considerable "dolling up" to be done. Enough rouge had been used to last the ordinary damsel a year, as each one was highly colored, but the hostess produced a pound can of talc that she passed around, producing the can from the depths of a large bag.

During the evening, several of the husbands and other friends "dropped in" to see the fun. Bridge was indulged in for a time, but it is doubtful if there was much science displayed.

At the close of the game a vote was taken as to who should have the prize for the best or the worst costume. Mrs. Pearl Kilborn won and was presented with a large box. Inside was a crushed plush jewel case and in this a tiny stick pin with a cat's head or face peering at her. Mrs. Kilborn's gown was a burlap bag, labeled with some dairy feed, decorated with red flannel patches and with a large terra cotta butterfly bow on the shoulder. A string of dried apple served for her necklace. Red pantalettes trimmed with curtain cord and lace; a small green bonnet tied under her chin, were among the accessories. Every costume should receive special mention and description, if space would allow. There were mitts and mittens, high boots, low boots, felt boots, ear jewels and necklaces made from buttons, and other ornaments equally funny. After scores were counted, it was found that Miss Agnes Craig held high score and she was presented with a small bag of salt. Mrs. Pearl Kilborn was second and received a box of tacks, while Mrs. Louise Wood held low and received a yeast cake. An original, appropriate verse accompanied each favor. The prizes were all encased in old battered boxes and tied with rope or corset laces.

In the group were Mrs. Edith Easton, Mrs. Bessie Hill, Mrs. Pearl Kilborn, Mrs. Clara Luck, Mrs. Blanche Smith, Mrs. Fannie Clark, Mrs. Etta Maxim, Mrs. Helen Bickford, Mrs. Vernie Edminster, of Norway; Mrs. Louise Wood of Oxford, Miss Agnes Craig of Lewiston and the hostess.

TRUE TODAY AS WHEN WRITTEN

Maine, in common with the rest of the world, suffers from some vices. Among those prevalent with us are toadyism and admiration of wealth. Too many of us fawn on the great or near great and far too many of us kneel down and devoutly worship money. The average Maine man takes off his hat when he meets a ten dollar gold piece, and bows in silent prayer when he sees a twenty dollar bill.—W. R. Pattangall.

ANCIENT EXTRAVAGANCES RECITED

John Woodman opens himself up thusly: "Every day I hear somebody saying this is an extravagant age; that rich and poor alike are spendthrifts; that great sums of money are spent for amusement. Well, there was another day when extravagance was rife. I refer to the ancient days in Rome. There was Nero, for instance, who had a thousand carriages at his command and often took them all along with him when he went on a journey. His mules were shod with silver and his servants bedecked with gold. Nero's wife maintained a herd of five hundred she-asses, at home and abroad, to supply milk for her daily bath. Her favorite horse wore a purple harness and a collar of pearls and had a marble stall with a trough of ivory.

In Cicero's time there was a spendthrift given to the pleasures of the table, who paid the equivalent of four thousand dollars for a dish of roasted song birds Caligula is said to have squandered a hundred times that amount on a single repast.

Marc Anthony bestowed a city of thirty-five thousand population upon a chef who had prepared for him an especially well-cooked meal. Fish was a popular food of the Romans and most of the mansions of the wealthy had built-in pools stocked with a living supply. The finny creatures were caught on gold hooks and broiled on silver gridirons, usually in sight of dinner guests. Some of the fish, mullet for example, were worth as high as two hundred and forty dollars apiece. Yet these were an insignificant item on a bill of fare of any pretensions.

Caesar served a typical Roman full-course dinner to sixty-six thousand persons during the ceremonies attending the burial of a daughter. The statesman Crassus gave one to which he invited all the citizens of Rome. Where in modern annals can one find parallels to such extravagance?

No not even in Augusta, when the legislature is in session."

SOUTH PARIS NEWS

BASKET BALL

Paris High 31; Norway High 28

South Paris High boys and girls made a clean sweep at the gymnasium, Friday night by defeating the teams from Norway High School. The boys landed 31-28 and the girls secured a verdict of 30-28. Both contests were all action with honors even and not much chance to pick the winner. The schools were fully represented along the sidelines with about as noisy and enthusiastic crowd as ever assembled for this annual classic.

In the boys' game, Kilgore of Norway was friendly with the hoop and landed high point player for the evening. Jim House and Steve Russell were strong basket weavers for Paris. Ralph "Doc" Robinson, who has been ill and out of the line since the Gould's game at Bethel, was again in uniform and presented the winning basket.

The action was fierce and furious that bordered on excusable roughness at times. Close scoring was the rule, with the teams 14-14 at the half and spectators on edge. Norway was on the advance line at the end of the third period with the score 26 to 25. Summaries:

Paris Entertains Weary Snowshoers

Seven marathoners, survivors of a field of seventeen who left Montreal, January 20th., for Lewiston in the International Snowshoe Race arrived in South Paris Thursday afternoon. The veteran snowshoer, Gene Clouette, aged 43, of Montreal was the first to arrive. He appeared fresh and not the least upset by twenty-five mile grind from Bethel where the men were entertained, Wednesday night. Two minutes behind was Joseph Gagne of Valley Fields, Can. Others arrived at intervals of one to four hours behind the leaders.

Official time for the day's run was as follows: Gene Clouette of Montreal, 4 hours and 3 minutes; Joseph Gagne of Valley Fields, Canada, 4 hours and 5 minutes; Alphonso Beaulac of Manchester, N. H., 5 hours, 10 minutes and 15 seconds; Wilfred Dupree of Montreal, 6 hours and 16 minutes; Valere Letourneau of Montreal, 6 hours, 16 minutes and 1 second; Charles Lefevbre of Montreal, 7 hours and 40 minutes; Rolad Boulay of Manchester, 8 hours and 45 minutes.

Their snowshoes bore evidence of rough usage in the 275 mile trek over icy roads with but little snow for the entire course. Beaulac suffered intensely from swollen feet and was about all in when he staggered toward the Square. Sheer pluck kept him in the race for three days and he was determined to finish in presentable condition.

Others experienced blisters, swollen legs and muscular strains because of hard traveling. A snowstorm of some intensity proved a hindrance during the last few hours on the road, but not enough fell to make snow shoeing practical.

They were met by a committee from the South Paris Board of Trade, a representative from the board of Selectmen and citizens, and escorted to Hotel Andrews, their headquarters for the night.

A reception was held in Association hall at 8 o'clock. After the formalities were over the tired road men sought downy beds, while the village folk joined in a dance that continued until midnight. Gene Clouette was presented a silver cup and a watch chain with charm.

The get-away to Lewiston on the last lap of 20 miles started soon after 10 o'clock Friday morning. Snap shots were taken while snow squalls interfered with clear shooting.

The men lined up on scratch in Market Square and at the word from a timer who accompanied the field, they were off. Clouette made a brilliant showing as he romped along Main Street, but sore feet and stiff joints were in evidence when his trailers went into action for the final grind. Apparently just sheer grit kept more than one in the running.

Clouette made the lap time to Lewiston in 4.07 and was received by a throng of cheering men and women. His nearest competitor was 9 minutes behind and the seventh to cross the line some three hours late.

At the inter-church basket ball games, Thursday evening, the Congos defeated the Methodists 13-11, and the Baptists won from the Unos. 10-9. Stephen Russell was referee.

Mrs. Mabelle Butts was hostess at a silver tea at her home, Tuesday afternoon. The proceeds will go to the Briggs playground fund. Similar teas are planned for the next few weeks.

Mrs. Lida Fletcher and Mrs. Bessie Pierce entertained the Opportunity Class of the Congregational Church at the Fletcher home, Monday evening.

Mrs. Rose Brooks was called to Orono on account of the illness of her son, Arthur Brooks, a student at the University of Maine.

Frank S. Dudley, who cut his foot with an ax while chopping in the woods, is getting along nicely but not able to move around much. The wound required five stitches.

Miss Miriam Wheeler of Auburn was a week end guest of Miss Ruth Nutting. She came Friday, especially to attend the basket ball games in the evening.

Miss Clara Nevers has entered the Deaconess Hospital in Boston for training as a nurse. Miss Gertrude Nevers accompanied her for a short visit in Boston.

Rev. J. H. Wilson former pastor of the Baptist Church here, was in town with Wm. H. Rowe of Yarmouth, to attend the union workers' conference held at the Universalist Church. Mr. Rowe was the speaker of the evening.

Paris Hill to Incorporate

Judiciary Committee Vote Unanimously in Favor

The judiciary committee voted unanimously in favor of the petitioners for incorporation of Paris Hill village. The petitioners claimed that their petition for incorporation fairly represented the sentiment of Paris Village with 73 signers, that the present method of raising money by the Community Club fairs and suppers was not satisfactory and that a new method was needed to defray expenses for village improvement and the remedy was "Incorporation of Paris Village."

The proposed Charter will allow the payment of all bills by money received from Corporation taxes, the maximum tax rate set at $6.00 on the thousand.

Representative Harold C. Perham of West Paris presented the petition to the legislature.

January Temperature

Eight mornings at zero or below, with an average of about 12 above at 6 a. m. is according to John Wight's thermometer at his home on Pine Street.

From 42 above to 30 below is the variation for the month, with the cold period from the 14th to the 17th. Quite respectable temperature was recorded between the 18th and 31st, but strong winds for ten days of that time gave impressions of much colder weather than indicated by mercury in sheltered spots.

The following table discloses the fact that the coldest mornings in succession over a period of five years have been on the 28th; four readings below zero and one not far above that mark.

ANNUAL FARM AND HOME WEEK AT ORONO, MARCH 25-28

The twenty-third annual Farm and Home Week is to be held at the College of Agriculture of the University of Maine March 25-28.

From a very modest beginning with but small registration, the attendance has gradually grown until every county in the state is well represented by men and women, the registration last year reaching nearly 700, the largest on record.

Those in charge of arrangements are planning an even better program than the one in 1928 which several visitors who have attended Farmers' Weeks for many years said was the most worthwhile of any. The program will include lectures and demonstrations on many phases of agriculture and home economics so that there will be something of interest for everyone every hour from the opening Monday morning until the close of Thursday noon.

The "Clean Mouth" Campaign which has been conducted in the schools in Maine the past two years, showed a gain of 150 per cent in 1928 over 1927 in the number of school rooms that won the "One Hundred Per Cent Certificate" offered to each class in which every child has had necessary dental corrections made.

EDISON THE WIZARD

Thomas A. Edison, the "Wizard of Menlo Park," will on February 11th celebrate his 82nd birthday, yet he appears to be in full possession of the wonderful mental powers which have been the marvel of his contemporaries. It is worthy of note that in his biography in "Who's Who in America," his educational career is confined to the simple statement that he "received" same from his mother."

No diplomas, no college degrees, no prizes for scholarship in his early years. In later life, however, many colleges and universities have honored themselves by conferring honorary degrees in philosophy, science and law, after he had made his own way to fame and stood in no need of formal scholastic recognition.

In the recent celebration in his honor, broadcast by radio to every state, his achievements were praised by President Coolidge and other prominent Americans. On that occasion Secretary Mellon said: "In the space of a single lifetime he has changed the conditions under which men live."

Mr. Edison has obtained patents for more than 1,000 inventions, the two most epoch making being the phonograph and the incandescent electric light bulb. His genius has made possible great industries which have contributed immeasurably to the joy and comfort of man kind. His influence upon civilization can hardly be appreciated.

In paying deserved tribute to his greatness it should always be borne in mind that as a boy he "received some instructions from his mother."

Th first meeting of the nutrition classes under the direction or the State Department of Health was held Thursday afternoon at the high school building. Miss Frances Nason of Augusta, dietitian on the staff, conducted the class, assisted by Mrs. Best. Miss Nason's talk and stereopticon pictures were very interesting and instructive and deserved a larger attendance, although a fair sized group of ladies were present. The next meeting will be held on Thursday, Feb. 28, at 2 p. m. No woman who has the care of rearing children can afford to miss these lectures.

A stereopticon mission lecture was given by Rev. J. W. Barr last Sunday evening on Japan, which was very interesting. The pictures are colored and very clear and instructive. Those who cannot go abroad, as the most of us cannot, ought to avail themselves of these pictures which occur at least once a month, showing some one place or other of our foreign countres.

In the Intelligence column is an ad for a lost cat. Mrs. Barbara Mattor, the other day, let her gray cat ride up to the store with her. She warned her husband to pass the bundles in the car window, but unthinking he opened the door and out went the cat, hence the family cat is among the missing.

Paragraph clipped from the Rochester (N. H.) Courier:

Arthur Rotch, editor, Milford Cabinet, has been sick and writes for his paper: "There are some nice things about an illness. It is then that you discover how many friends you have, more than you suspected."

Will Lance, of the Meredith, (N. H.) News comments thusly:

"Doubtless so, and it often takes death itself to make a community realize how much it really thought or some individual. However, we prefer to remain alive, even if we have to live in ignorance."

Them's our sentiments to a T.

Paul Thompson has brought in a purse which he found near the Norway National Bank, Thursday afternoon.

"My stationery is getting low," that is a remark you often hear and we can supply you with a combination of letter paper and envelopes with your name and address printed on them for $1.50.

About the biggest bluff that ever came to earth were the Buff Cochin chickens. They were not good layers, they were not good looking, and they were not fit to eat.

A doctor: "Gargle sage tea, and prevent a cold or throat trouble."

Len Sessions and Garfield Walker are in favor of abolishing the government and distributing the tax money in bonuses.

K. C. G. says: "In ancient times gigantic enterprises were carried on. For instance, Aristotle, writer of natural history, had 1,000 men scatteed through Greece and Asia, gathering material for his books. That, I suppose, was the first organized scientific inquiry."

Leon French, Jr., brought a Thermos bottle to this office, Tuesday, which he picked up in the street. Same was duly tagged and put on the shelf to be claimed by the owner.

Walter Sanborn: "Congress has not reapportioned the House membership under the 1920 census, in spite of the provision of the Constitution directing that it be done. If Congress does not obey the Constitution, what can one expect from the bootleggers?"

The Sport Editor has an antique more or less connected with the early history of Bethel. It is a needle holder used more than a century ago by Mrs. Rachel Cushman, wife of Thomas "Beaver" Cushman, an early settler in Sudbury, now of Bethel. The article is a metal tube set in cloth and made to hold extra knitting needles. "Beaver" Cushman cleared a farm at the foot of Blake Hill, erected a block house and reared a family. They resided there many years, but now only the cellar hole remains to mark one of the historical clearings in that town. George H. Bennett, who donated the antique, explained with some pride that the Cushmans were his grandparents and that his grandmother, whose maiden name was Rachel Goud, came from France in Revolutionary days, was shipwrecked on Plum Island in Boston Harbor and eventually married Cushman.

Kenny Gurney: "The first trans-Atlante cable was laid in 1858. At the present time there are 21 trans-Atlantic cables. The first telegraph line was built between Baltimore and Washington in 1843. Now there are over two million miles of telegraph lines in this country alone."

Our desk is congested with bound volumes of poetry. Inspirational verse! Among the late arrivals is "The New Age" by Dr. J. F. Frisbee, 672 Tremont St., Boston, Mass. It is from the press of the Meador Publishing Co., 27 Beach Street of that city. It is priced at one dollar each, including delivery.

Dr. Frisbee was once a scholomate of ours. We struggled together in New Hampton, N. H., a full half century ago. He took to teaching and now, apparently, has dropped into writing graceful verse which we do not understand, hence cannot appreciate.

We have butter cartons for sale at this office, made of good weight waxed card. These can be had printed or unprinted. They keep butter in good shape and easy to handle.

Harry Lovejoy: "The query where do they go, survives in spite of sweeping changes. Years back when horses by the carload arrived for Andrews' Sale Stable and other marts, people wondered when the point of saturation would be reached. Today, with new cars arriving by rail and overland, the same question is asked. Will it be pertinent twenty-five years hence? Years ago oats were bought by the peck to keep some old nag alive. Today some have gas by the quart or gallon to feed a piece of mechanical junk. The auto must run and be groomed, even if money is tight, and the children live on breakfast food."

Mrs. Arthur Morrill called up Tuesday morning while it was around the zero point to tell us that Monday afternoon Mr. Morrill, while working in the orchard, had seen a robin, along with a lot of the usual winter birds. It seems a little early for robins to be around.

Walter Chandler was requested by a South Paris woman to print something like this: "I want you to make a correction. My husband is not sick in bed, but the old fool should be from the things he ate last night before he went to bed."

Much sickness with colds, grippe, pneumonia and flu over the county this week. One town correspondent sent in two dozen items; of these nineteen were of sickness or alluded to illness, one was an obituary and four were of a social nature. In several towns schools are closed or have been, on account of so much illness.

Seems early to write about summer business, but Capt. Mel Sampson is receiving requests for camps and other reservations along the lake shore. One family writes they are making plans even now for a good old summer outing and can hardly wait for the days to pass. Ice on the big pond is some 24 inches in thickness and not due to leave until the last of April, but swimming and boating time will come almost before we realize.

Sooner or later some soft headed social worker will ask the state to buy a sedan for every convict.

John Wight, South Paris, has an ingenious plan of making the old brick pumping station into a municipal incinerator for the disposal of the village refuse. He believes that with some alterations the building would fulfill the purpose and could be operated at a small cost. Ashes from this furnace and incombustible stuff could be dumped along the shore of the bog behind the station.

Nate Merrill: "I claim credit for discovering the fact that a slightly raised automobile hood will keep a windshield free from ice in freezing weather.

"I made the discovery when I raised the hood of my car while the motor was running and ice on the windshield fell off.

"Then I propped the rear of the hood slightly and drove through snow and rain freezing as it fell with a clear wind shield. It is a great discovery and I have not applied for a patent on it. Try it."

Sent in: "I insist on being quoted correctly, thus: 'A putz is a misplaced vertebra that presses on the big nerve running from the heart to the stummick.'" Stummick is the way it was written.

E. C. Bennett and Lawrence Littlehale, R. G's of Wilson's Mills, stopped off in Norway on their return from a game banquet at Augusta. Some shopping and teeth pulling was done. Ernest left two teeth and reviewed, at the Wearies, Fred Sanborn's arrest, trial and conviction for game law breaking in the Magalloway in 1927.

Mr. Bennett was counsel for the respondent and zealously guarded his rights contrary to the wishes of Two-Gun Benson, the officer. The trial was hld in Magalloway before Justice Fickett in stead of before Judge Jones of Norway. Attorney Bennett won and Sanborn some home publicity in his criminal career.

Tex Smith, fight promoter, has arranged for K. O. Truman and Mickey Flanagan of his string to unpack their wares in Auburn Hall this Thursday night. Everything is set for the match in the Norway Armory, Friday evening. Tex has a strong card for a crowd anxious to break up the monotony of winter. Punching starts at 8:15.

Don C. Seitz: "Interested to see they have stuck old Solon Chase's mug up in the state house at Augusta, where they once shood his following out with a gatling gun. Good old boy, who meant well and beat Hanecok in 1880, by scaring the money bags in September into buying the election in November. I knew the old fellow well. If I had time I would like to write the story. He used to come into the office when I was a boy, tilt back in a chair, slap his knee with his old soft hat and announce his purpose "to carry the Greenback thunder from the pine clad hills of Maine to the prairies of Texas." He came pretty near doing it. Them were the days. But alas: "Farewell the loud alarms and the fierce wars that make ambition virtue." I see the part of China, Mabel lives in is frozen up thirty miles out to sea. Some freeze to come on top of famine."

2-Door Sedan, $745 Body by Fisher

announcing The New PONTIAC BIG SIX

Introducing Big Car Standards of Luxury, Style and Performance at $745

TODAY a new type of low cost motoring luxury is available. It embraces big car style. It provides big car riding comfort. It embodies big car quality in unseen parts. It is offered by a brand new automobile—the New Pontiac Big Six.

Frankly, the New Pontiac Big Six was designed to appeal to a certain group. This group is made up of people who are beginning to move up in the world. Many of them will soon make the first step up in the quality of their cars. The New Pontiac Big Six was designed for them.

It comes to them entirely new in appearance. Stunning new bodies by Fisher contribute to the big car beauty and big car style presented by the car as a whole.

Progressive people are seeking greater luxury. The Pontiac Big Six offers them the luxury for which bodies by Fisher are famous the world over. It provides the smooth-riding qualities of a car 167 inches in overall length, with accurately balanced rotating mechanical parts and such advanced comfort features as adjustable drivers' seats.

It is a six with the added power of a larger L-head engine and the added smoothness imparted by a dynamically balanced, counter-weighted crankshaft and the famous Harmonic Balancer. Its new brakes are of the dirt-and-weather-proof internal four-wheel type.

It reveals big car performance even to the point of developing big car power and big car speed.

Only a few highlights in its construction have been mentioned. Just enough to prove that the Pontiac Big Six is entirely new and capable of meeting progressive Americans' demand. But the amazing thing about it is that it gives so much big car luxury, style and performance at prices which come within practically everyone's reach!

Prices $745 and up, f.o.b. factory, plus delivery charges. Bumpers and rear fender guards regular equipment at slight extra cost. Check Oakland-Pontiac delivered prices—they include lowest handling charges. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

HUNT'S CORNER AND VICINITY

Rev. Wilbur Bull gave us a helpful sermon Sunday afternoon, his text was from Jeremiah, "I will restore unto thee health." He spoke earnestly of the need of health of the soul as well as physical health.

Round Mountain Grange held its regular meeting, Saturday afternoon. After the usual routine of business, Sister Celia Gorman, the Lecturer, presented the following program:

Song ..... Grange
Reading ..... Lena Bruce
Readings .....
Edith Stearns, Adelia Waterhouse, Celia Gorman and Lilla Stearns, in regard to Bills before the Legislature which were interesting and well discussed by all members present.

The porcupine was discussed in a humorous vein, but after all it's not so funny when one has a quill in their foot causing infection or on finding that a small army of them in one night have cut off your raspberry bushes doing more damage than many hard days work can replace. Not to mention damage to apple trees and timber. For years the boys in this vicinity have been catching them alive and selling to the Flint Bros. but the little sinners keep on increasing and being an expensive nuisance to the farmer.

Safe, Clean Efficient, Automatic Heating With Anthracite

The Most Efficient Heating Device Ever Created

The Electric Furnace Man

The Electric Furnace-Man is the latest development in the field of automatc heating. The Electric Furnace-Man can easily be installed in your present heating plant, whether it be steam, vapor, hot water or warm air. Cost of installation is surprisingly low. The Electric Furnace-Man uses Anthracite Coal—the smaller sizes—known as No. 1 Buckwheat and Rice, the price range of which is considerably lower than the commonly used larger sizes. The coal is automatically fed from the coal hopper to the burner, slow or fast, just as needed. The right amount of air is supplied by a fan and the ashes are automatically removed to a convenient covered can outside the furnace.

There is no nursing of fires, no shaking or raking, no adjustment of drafts and no uncertainty.

Let me tell you what the Electric Furnace-Man can do for you.

Don't Drift Like a Ship Without Sail or Rudder

Drifting--Where?

No one wants to feel that he is drifting aimlessly upon the sea of life, without sail, without rudder. Yet that is exactly what is happening to those who do not have a definite plan for handling their finances. To get on in this world, to become a helpful citizen of the community, each member must have a financial plan. It makes possible the prompt payment of all obligations when due---a most important factor in the growth and development of the community.

Oxford County United Parish

Embracing Albany, North Lovell, Stoneham and the Waterfords. Pastoral Staff: Revs. W. I. Bull, B. F. Wentworth, A. C. Townsend

Rev. B. F. Wentworth has been taking a week's vacation in and near Boston. On Monday of last week he and Rev. W. I. Bull attended an interdenominational gathering of those interested in Rural Church Work in New England. An organization was formed which gives promise of being of great help to the work of the church in the smaller towns and communities.

On account of the prevailing distemper in Waterford and South Waterford, the church services and Sunday school were again omitted last Sunday. It is hoped that they can be resumed next week.

Last week the contracts were signed for the rebuilding of the Church and Community House at Waterford, which were destroyed by fire last May. The Church will be built by Contractor J. F. Kerr of Rumford, and the Community House by H. Alton Bacon of Bryant's Pond. Work will be begun on both buildings as early in the spring as the season will permit, and it is hoped that they will be finished by the middle of the summer.

Next Saturday afternoon at East Stoneham, the Keewaydin Club will hold a carnival of winter sports, followed by a supper. This carnival will be in part for a local good time, and in part as a try-out for the United Parish Carnival which is to come at North Waterford, February 23. At this later carnival athletic teams are expected from Gould Academy, Bridgton Academy and Norway High School as well as local teams and individuals.

The moving picture that was scheduled for last week was postponed on account of sickness, but it will be shown next week in the usual places.

A stereopticon lecture, "The Negroes of the Southland" will be shown on Sunday evenings during February, throughout the Parish. It will probably be given at East Stoneham next Sunday evening.

By a vote of the Council, there will be taken in all the churches of the Parish next Sunday, an offering for the Staff Fund. This fund is an important part of the Parish finances and should be put on a more permanent basis than at present. Upon it depends the transportation of boys and girls to the Sunday schools, the Church Vacation Schools, the health program, carnival and field day, the Calendar, and occasional deficits in the moving picture program. The Fund has been replenished in the past by some generous gifts. These are appreciated, but they do not form a permanent basis for this important fund.

Beware of COLDS NOW!

whether you've had the FLU . . . or not

This is the time of year when serious cold troubles, such as deep chest colds, bronchitis, and pneumonia are always at their worst.

Just now, with so many people in the weakened condition that follows a flu attack, it is more important than ever to heed every cold as a danger signal and check it promptly before complications can set in.

Quick Direct Treatment

At the first sign of a cold, melt some Vicks in a bowl of hot water and inhale its healing vapors. Also place some up each nostril and snuff well back. This quickly opens the air passages.

At bedtime, rub Vicks vigorously over throat and chest and cover with a warm flannel. Most colds yield overnight to Vicks two-fold action:

Acts 2 Ways at Once

(1) Its medicated vapors, released by the warmth of the body, are inhaled direct to the inflamed air passages, loosening the phlegm and easing the difficult breathing.

(2) At the same time, Vicks acts through the skin like a poultice, "drawing out" tightness and soreness, and thus helping the vapors to break up the congestion.

Mothers especially appreciate this simple external treatment because it cannot upset children's delicate stomachs, as too much "dosing" is so apt to do.

Pupils who had 100 per cent in spelling the past week were: Mary Twitchell, Oscar and Albert Twitchell, Marion Twitchell and Merlene Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Twitchell are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son, February 1st. Mrs. Flora Cummings is caring for them.

Mrs. Ellen Richards has been ill this week with a grippe cold.

Erwin Cummings and George Cummings, wife and baby were at A. D. Cummings', Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Mansfield Coleman of Otisfield, who are spending the winter with their son and family, Arthur Holman of Norway Center, were guests from January 30, to February 3, at E. E. Twitchell's, Mr. and Mrs. Ai Twitchell going to Norway Center for them, taking them to the church meeting at Oxford Village, the 30th. Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Twitchell and Miss Chestina, also attended the church meeting.

John Sylvester, who lately lost his wife, still keeps his home, working over at the mill, of which Mr. Hill has charge.

Mrs. Verna Witham Callahan, who went to care for Clara Smith of Norway, contracted a bad cold and came home for a few days hoping to soon be able to return to Miss Smith's.

Ernest Mattor spins his car to and from his work, every day, over by Crooked River, some 10 to 12 miles away.

Did you know that California is so large a state that for weeks at a time, there are some places the sun does not shine during the winter months! It is a fact. Just the other day Flora Cummings received a letter from her daughter Edna Cummings Bell, telling what a hard time she had been having to get her washings dry, as for two weeks, the sun had not been seen, nor one gleam of its rays felt. Edna has been in California several years, yet clings to the truth and tells it unvarnished, occasionally her brother, Alanson Cummings, who has gotten the California spirit in half the time of being there, declares that where she lives is not real California. We Maniacs who hear only the sunny side of California can hug ourselves to keep from shivering and think that even the balmy South and sunny West has drawbacks, many not heard of as well as the dear old state of Maine and comfort ourselves best we can as our wood piles go up in smoke.

Letters received from Iva Allen Watson of Fayette, formerly of Oxford, Fore Street, are cheery, telling of the pleasant home and comfortable winter, she and Mrs. Allen are enjoying. Her men folks work in the woods and the young boy in school, though he had been ill, a few days with the prevailing distemper. She expressed a kindly interest in each and every neighbor and mentioned the Advertiser items read.

When some of these speeding autos and quick moving trucks get racing with the wind which sweeps so fiercely up and down this Street and at the same time come in contact with what was supposed to be substantial fencing here and there by the cement highway, something happens and usually to the fence. Some places look like one might gather kindling wood, other places you could imagine games had been played with the one time posts and planks that had been a fence, even a mail box by the way gets demolished the same way and some of the timid ones wonder if a corner of their house or a barn door will be next, such a wide sweep is taken.

The poultry industry is stirring and preparations for hatching are being made. Mr. and Mrs. Mattor have purchased a 400 egg incubator and purchased poultry some time ago so to be all set to set in due time.

Who would want to tell of it if their cellar froze when the temperature was so low and the wind blowing a gale? The same one who would tell if their cellars filled with water in the Spring, until the furnace fires were drowned and the potatoes swimming.

What Electricity Has Done for Us

By Gertrude I. Barrows

The worthy Lecturer asked me to have an original in next Grange and was kind enough to furnish a topic but no other information or brains. The subject she said was "What has electricity done for us?" I take it she meant the wired in power we have installed recently for lights principally; although all are benefitted by electricity in many other forms such as the place it has in telephones, in gasoline engines, in autos, in flashlights. We have always seen the wild flashes of frightful electric storms. Thunder storms benefit no one except the agent for lightning rods.

All the new wired power does so far at our house is to light the house, the barn and lighten our pocket books also. (How well it lights up the cobwebs in the top of the room, too.) Just what this strange unseen force is, is still puzzling the scientists. They know about it and what it will do but still can only guess what electricity is.

A teacher once asked his class to define electricity. One boy raised a hand and said "I did know teacher but have forgotten." The teacher said, "That is too bad, for all the person in the world who knows what electricity is have forgotten."

The good neighbors around here use the power for many things such as to wash, iron, cook, pump, sew, bedwarmer, haircurler, run radio, refrigerators and to automatically light their henhouses at an early hour. It seems rather tough on an old hen to rouse her up these cold mornings at three o'clock and set her eating and laying and other odd jobs.

I can imagine poor old biddie when the strong electric light flashes to almost daylight reality, opening one eye and gaping, then feeling the cold air she hates to get up. (I can sympathize strongly on that point.) So she settles back for another nap for it seems such a short time since she went the rounds eating all she could hold; but electricity, conquers and she hops off the roost and starts another day's work of eating.

East Otisfield has beaten Spurr's Corner in having street lights first. We congratulate the Pugleyvillians that they may saunter abroad at all hours of the night without fear of stepping on a skunk out for his nightly stroll. Spurr Cornerites still have to go armed with flashlights to see their skunks, also deers. Flashlights are handy for sucker spearing and other night fishing.

SACO VALLEY UNITED PARISH

The Rev. Walter Pavy attended the all-New England Rural Church Leaders' Conference, held at the Twentieth Century Club, Boston, the beginning of last week, at which a New England Town and Country Church Commission was established.

The committee appointed by the parish to arrange a winter carnival met on Friday and decided to hold a parish sports day the first Saturday of March, with a basketball game between the Lovell Men's Club and some other team, supper served by the Ladies' Aids of the parish, and finished with a grand concert in the evening.

Great crowds are turning out for the basketball practices of the Lovell fellows at the Wiley Hall, Wednesdays and Saturdays. The Camp Fire Girls and the Pioneers are given periods before the men, and the arrangement is proving a real asset to the life of the village.

The North Fryeburg young men meet each week at the Redmen's Hall and report good times with gymnasium work and boxing.

Walter Pavy with a group of Lovell and North Fryeburg young fellows made a trip to the Stone House at Cold River, spending the night there and hiking back on Saturday. The boys report a fine time in spite of the fact that the last few miles seemed a bit long.

Arrangements are being made for the annual meeting of the Parish Council which takes place the first Wednesday of March. This meeting will be of special importance as it marks the close of the two years experiment as a united parish.

"The trees grow large and tall way down in Maine," says E. S. Benson, who recently cut a yellow birch that was four feet across the stump and there were 22 4-foot cuts in it while at the small end of the 22nd it was 8 inches in diameter. this tree with many more will be hauled to the Penley Bros.' birch mill on the John Heald place, where around one thousand cords of bolts mostly of white birch will be sawed into spool and dowel stock and cobbed in the yard for the winter and about the first of May they will begin to truck it to the Tebbets Spool Company's mill at Locke's Mills, there to be manufactured into spools and dowels, from there to be shipped to most parts of the civilized world.

"BE A GOOD BOY"

When you were a little lad, playing at morn,
As the hour for school drew nigh,
Mother came to the door to see you off,
Saying, "Be a good boy, good-bye."
On the way, you could hear her parting words,
Ringing after you, clear and true,
And you gave up the pranks you had planned to play,
And some things you meant to do.
"Be a good boy," it sounds down the years,
To many a boy older grown,
It has saved you from pathways that led from the right,
And from perils all unknown.
"Be a good boy," how her words come back,
As the years swift-winged fly,
Still she is calling in tender voice,
"Be a good boy, good-bye."

Weary Club wisdom: Two men were discussing miracles, one contending they are possible and the other denying it. "What would you say if a man jumped off a 24-story building and was unhurt" asked the man defending miracles. "I'd say it was an accident," said the other. "But what if he did it again?" "I'd call that a coincidence." "Then what would you call it if he would climb up again and fall a third time without being hurt?" "I'd say it was a habit."

WHIFF! BANG! SMACK!

The main bout between Young Matt of Norway and Ted Lane of Auburn was over, Matheson winning by a K. O.

Young Matt was the first to mount to the ring and a warm round of applause greeted his appearance. Then came Ted Lane of Auburn, a very likely looking lad, and to all appearance a lively set-to of peas porridge-hot peas porridge cold was expected. But whoa!

At the clang of the gong both boys leapt to the center of the ring and the crowd all tensed forward to view the expected mix-up of leather. Lane shot over a sizzling right to Matheson's food masticater breaking open his moustache carrier. Matt, rather surprised at this early show of roughness, abruptly shot over a similar blow, much more neatly aimed, and dropped his man to the floor where he reclined peacefully until the count of nine. He struggled to his feet only to be dropped again by a sledge-hammer blow placed in the exact spot of the first. Again he listened to the sweet humming of blue birds for nine short seconds, and once more he came to his feet. This time a real Battle of the Ages was started and the boys weaved and bobbed and slung leather until suddenly, from no one knows where, came a swiftly rising left to the "bread-basket" and a short, straight jab to the jaw, and Lane went "whoozy-eyed" to the floor, cleanly knocked out.

The fans had less than a minutes fighting in this bout, but that was plenty enough to show that the two boys are very evenly matched and would certainly be worth watching could a return bout be staged.

The prelims opened up with the best exhibition of the evening. This was between "Bobby" Smith as Billy East, and George Bell as Jimmie West. The youngsters certainly put over 50 cents worth of fun for the house and it was no game of run-and-touch-me or hide-and-go-seek either. Young Bell flipped over some good ones but "Smitty" ruled the favorite with his classy style of fighting.

Next came Lefty Johnson, Norway, and K. O. Kirshner of South Paris. This looked like a waiting game for Johnson but he evidently waited too long, and meanwhile forgot to hit his opponent. Kirshner with his aggresiveness easily took all four rounds of this act.

The final preliminary was a double question mark. The bout was between Jack Johnson, Norway, and "Swede" Ericson, of Otisfield. For two rounds Johnson smashed away at the Swede without interference, then he, having had his turn, leaned over the ropes and allowed Ericson to massage his back for the remaining two rounds. If each had done his fighting at the same time, this would have been one grand old scrap and without a doubt, the most interesting to watch.

The boxing match, under "Tex" Smith's super supervision, was held at the Armory, Friday, Feb. 8. A very good crowd attended. The next fight will take place within a few weeks. Many would like to view a return Lane and Matheson bout.

The most of the fans missed a very merry cyclone of swirling leather when a Ward 8 Cub, with growls and gaunts, challenged any six persons in the room to a leather bout. His challenge was finally accepted by one having the courage and audacity of ten. This person is known in some circles as "Slick Silk." With Reggie Dyer acting referee, a happy battle ensued, the Ward 8 representative coming forth the winner by a slight margin, when he gave forth a roar of victory, and departed for home and a bathing of Sloan's Liniment. This was taken externally.
